French Act to Halt DeGaulle; Prevent Riots

By JOSEPH DYNAN
PARIS (AP) — Moving swiftly to block a Gaullist coup and prevent civil war, Premier Pierre Pflimlin summoned a special session of the National Assembly today to put France under a regime just short of martial law.

An overwhelming majority of deputies from the left and center was expected to grant the three-day-old government's request for emergency powers to prevent Gen. Charles de Gaulle from becoming dictator of France.

The right-wing supporters of France's World War II hero, numerically weak in the Assembly, but always noisy in pressing their demands, sought to overthrow Pflimlin's moderate government in favor of the would-be strong man.

De Gaulle broke his six-year silence Thursday with a cryptic statement declaring the "regime of parties" was destroying France and he was ready to take over the "powers of the Republic." The general laid down no specific program, but his insistence on one-man government — without interference from the Assembly — is a byword of French politics.

De Gaulle's most solid support came from Algeria, where a junta of military officers and ultra-nationalistic French civilians have established an extra-legal government in the form of Algeria-wide committees of public safety.

Taking their name from the days of the reign of terror after the French Revolution, the committees bypassed the officials appointed by Paris and even had some of them taken into custody. Then they set up their own government, pledging themselves to bring De Gaulle to power in Paris so that there could be no compromise in the war against the independence-seeking Moslem nationalists in Algeria.

De Gaulle's sudden re-entry into politics, coupled with the turmoil in Algeria, created an explosive situation in Paris. Nationalistic young men and older right-wingers, who look to De Gaulle for leadership might take it as a signal for an attempt to seize control of France by outright force. Communist and Socialist leaders of the labor unions served notice they would call strikes and demonstrations to bar any attempt at "personal power."

Kidnap-Slayer Surrenders to Police

FARMINGTON, Mo. (AP) — Billy Glenn Newhouse, wanted for the slaying of his uncle and the kidnaping of three persons, gave himself up late Thursday.

One of the kidnap victims was stabbed. Another, his 17-year-old former girl friend, said she was raped.

Newhouse, 21, who has a long record of arrests, refused to make a statement.

He is accused of the gunshot slaying of his uncle, James Huskey, 58, of nearby Desloge, the robbery, kidnaping and stabbing of a filling station operator and the kidnaping of Linda Reid Rawlings and Aetelle Moore, Jr., 25.

The body of Huskey, shot four times through the head, was found after authorities received word Newhouse had boasted of killing him Tuesday night.

Mrs. Rawlings, a divorcee and Moore said they were forced to accompany Newhouse in the car of his slain uncle from Flat River to Memphis, Tenn. They drove on to Clarksville, Miss., before reporting to officers.

They were with Newhouse when George Tubbs, 21, a Popular Bluff filling station attendant, was robbed and forced to accompany them.

The four stopped in a restaurant at Newport, Ark., at Tubbs was stabbed after he threw coffee in his captor's face and broke away. He staggered from the restaurant and was rushed to a hospital.

Cop Cited for Safe Driving

HONOLULU (AP) — Cpl. Herbert J. Morris was cited by his Army military police unit Tuesday for safe driving.

Thursday he got a citation from the military police for careless driving. His car hit the rear of another on Waikiki Street.

Morris said he turned his head to look at a young lady in shorts.

Weather

Arkansas — Partly cloudy with light scattered showers and a few underdrains today and tonight.

HOTTEST THING UNDER THE SUN—The solar furnace, above, will be the hottest thing on earth once it is placed in operation near Alamogordo, N.M. Designed for space age research, the 145-foot-square, 1½-million-pound flat mirror, right, will reflect the sun's rays to a 100-foot diameter parabolic mirror, left. It will focus rays into a five-inch circle on a laboratory unit in front of the Venetian blind-like shutter. Shutter controls light reaching the focusing mirror, and can cut off expected 7,000-degree Centigrade temperatures at focal point in half a second. Maximum temperature represents about 80 per cent of the surface temperature of the sun. Pittsburgh's J. W. Fecker Inc. and Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel are developing the 10-million-dollar device jointly. To be under contract with the Air Force, the mechanism may be used by all the armed forces, other governmental agencies and private industry.

Since Spring Skipped Us Why Not Skip a Few Spring Chores?

By Mary Anita Laseter

In our part of the country, Spring is not only a little late this year, Spring, as a season, has virtually passed us by in the same way that sack dresses ignore the waist-line.

A look at the calendar tells us it is that time of year about which poets were eloquent. But you couldn't tell it by looking at a thermometer or barometer or some other "ometer."

In former times, we all would have had to undergo taking a round of Spring tonic, regardless of a freak season. Those who know say we should be glad that is now a practice of the past.

"Spring planting and Spring cleaning are still very much 'in vogue,'" though making either one was not to much avail in '58. Any seasonal clothes have had to be stored and the crops restored."

This was due in a large measure to the change of little Spring showers into late Winter rains.

The hull in that housewifely task known as "Spring cleaning" can also be attributed to the unusual weather. After all, wind and water sans soap only drives in the dirt.

Now, more than ever before, the best advice in regard to doing Spring cleaning is "Wait until Fall." Since Spring skipped us, why not skip such an unpleasant Spring chore?

If the above advice sounds like a lazy person is giving it, it is because yours truly is in the throes of an ambition-sapping malady commonly known as Spring fever.

The cause of this universal ailment is the first warm day of the year. The cure: fishing, romance or time (the dosage depends on the patient).

Dognaper Asking Ransom of $125

DALLAS (AP) — Mrs. Julia Thompson told police a dognaper has her German shepherd and is asking $125 ransom. She said three weeks after the dog, Rex, was stolen she received a call demanding $100. Mrs. Thompson told officers someone left the animal's chain dog tag and rabies label at her front door as proof he had the dog.

Later she said the price went up to $125 and the caller threatened to kill Rex if the money is not paid.

Arkansas Housewife Wins a Vacation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A Little Rock housewife who suggested making hunting trips from old underbirds will receive an all-expense paid vacation in Florida as her reward.

Mrs. George M. Brannwell was one of 40 women in the United States who were chosen for the vacation by the Homemakers Forum of New York for original and unusual household hints.

Mrs. Brannwell will leave for Orlando Beach, Fla., on June 1. She and her husband will celebrate their 30th wedding anniversary there five days later.

Mrs. Ike Visits Her Mother

DENVER (AP) — Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower ended a five-day visit with her mother Thursday and is on her way back to Washington.

The First Lady, her sister, Mrs. Gordon Moore, and members of their entourage left aboard a special car headed to the Union Pacific Railroad's City Station.

By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — On a September day last year in a race-troubled Little Rock, Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark.) took his political life in hand and counsel moderation and compromise in the Central High School integration crisis.

It was Hays' conviction there should be a peaceful settlement of the explosive issue along Christian principles. Hays holds high church office as president of the Southern Baptist Convention.

While Hays' peace efforts failed and federal troops occupied the school, the congressman, a church leader, had no regrets over his advocacy of compromise.

"I am not a hater," he said. "If my district wants a hater, I am not the man. When the time comes to choose, I vote the way my conscience tells me."

Hays will set his district's verdict this summer at the end of a primary campaign in which his stand is an issue.

He said he and Mrs. Hays decided when he first came to Congress in 1943 that they would "rely upon the simple, fundamental truths we had learned from a Christian environment."

While a religious man and leader of 8½ million Baptists, Hays is not an austere man. He is regarded as one of the wittiest men in Congress and probably his best story teller. He is in demand as an after dinner speaker.

Hays neither drinks, smokes nor swears. Now 59, he is a tireless worker, keeping up with heavy correspondence from his district. From his Baptists attending committee meetings and making speeches.

Hays conceived the idea that Baptists around the world should actively promote world peace. Since there are 500,000 Baptists in the Soviet Union, he decided that would be a good place to start.

So he flew to Moscow to meet Baptist leaders there and to address the Moscow Baptist church congregation. It was his belief, he said, that some good must come from a face-to-face meeting of religious people of the two countries. He is advocating more such meetings.

Hays says there is room in politics for religion and prayer, but he repudiates the idea of trying politically on his religion.

Tennessee Judge to Be Impeached

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Win only seven dissenting votes the Tennessee House of Representatives today impeached Chattanooga Judge Paulson Schofield. His case now goes to the Senate for trial.

The action means Schofield is suspended from office until the State Senate completes its impeachment trial.

The vote was 89-7 on the first of 25 charges recommended this morning by a special House Committee. The House votes one by one on the other 24 charges.

No date has been set for the impeachment trial.

The accusations against Schofield, 51, were brought to light during a hearing in Washington last winter by the U. S. Senate Labor-Relations Committee.

Union Treasurer In Indicted

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Perry A. Long, the war-crippled county treasurer, was indicted by the Union County Grand Jury yesterday on misdemeanor charges for allowing an investigation of theft of about $22,000 in cash from the treasurer's office.

Long a month ago reported that he was stugged, bound and robbed of the cash while alone in his office.

The indictments against him charged malfeasance, misfeasance and nonfeasance. The charges are punishable on conviction by fines of as much as $250, by a year's imprisonment or by both fine and imprisonment.

Malfeasance is defined as official misconduct, misfeasance as doing a lawful act in an unlawful manner, and nonfeasance as neglect of an official duty.

The indictments were returned after a five-day investigation by the Grand Jury.

Long was taken into custody but was released on $500 bond.

Disappointed Juan to Miss Speedway

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The 1957 Indianapolis 500-mile race winner is disappointed Juan Manuel Fangio evidently won't try to qualify his car for this year's Memorial Day classic in Saturday's opening session of time trials.

But Sam Anks, the race record holder, (135.60) miles an hour, said tremendous speed in practice runs indicate a sizzling battle for the pole position that goes to Saturday's fastest qualifier.

Hanks said he was sure Fangio could have qualified as one of the 33 starters, in spite of exceptional high speed shown by most of the 55 other entries in practice runs.

The slowest qualifier last year averaged 139.10 miles an hour in the four-lap, 10-mile time trial. Thirty-two cars this year have been running over 140 miles an hour. At least four of them are threats to the qualifying average of 145.96 set two years ago by Pat Flaherty of Chicago, who went on to win the race.

Inmates Entertain Peace Officers

FOLSOM, Calif. (AP) — The Northern California Peace Officers Assn. closed its meeting at Folsom Prison with a bit of musical entertainment by the inmates.

The final selection, dedicated to Warden Robert Heinze and members of the State Adult Authority, was:

"I've learned a lesson I'll never forget."

Chavez Rayne Is Up to Voters

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Political figures have had their turns at bat. Now it is up to the voters to decide whether the Los Angeles Dodgers get Chavez Rayne for a stadium site.

A state legislative committee wound up a hearing Friday on the proposed contract between the city and the Dodgers for the site. The proposal will be submitted for approval at the June 3 election.

Opponents of the contract, including some members of the city council, contend it is one-sided in favor of the Dodgers. Under its terms, the Dodgers would trade Wrigley Field for the 300-acre plus city-owned ravine about a mile from the downtown section.

Auto Hit Two Pedestrians, Injuries Slight

Automobiles hit two persons in this area last night but neither was believed seriously injured.

About 5 p.m. yesterday on Hazel an auto driven by Mrs. D. L. Rogers, Hope Rl. 4, hit a 4-year-old Negro boy named Denny Ray Scott. He was treated at a local hospital but was not believed seriously injured.

City Police said the youth ran across the street in front of the auto. Officers said an auto driven by L. C. Pace had stopped in the street, fearing the youth would run in front of his auto. Instead the boy ran behind Pace's car and into the path of the Rogers vehicle.

About 8:30 last night an auto driven by Arvil Phillips hit a 73-year-old man, C. T. Hunter of Texarkana, who was walking along Highway 67 about six miles west on Highway 67.

Sheriff Jimmy Cook said Phillips didn't see the man, but felt the auto hit something. He stopped and investigated and discovered that Hunter's hand had struck the side of his car. Mr. Phillips brought Hunter to a local hospital where he was treated for a minor injury and released, the Sheriff said.

U. S. Closely Eying French Developments

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House and State Department watched the darkening French political crisis in silent apprehension today, fearful of its impact on the unity and strength of the North Atlantic Alliance.

Diplomatic officials said it was impossible to predict the outcome of the rapidly developing conflict of forces and personalities in France and Algeria. But many in high position were known to feel that the very existence of the Fourth Republic is at stake.

One possibility causing concern in official quarters was the danger that the French military in Tunisia, commanding 25,000 troops might follow the example of the French army in neighboring Algeria and try to set up some kind of committee to exercise at least a degree of political authority.

The government of President Habib Bourguiba, whose country was a French protectorate until 1956, is understood to have expressed anxiety on this score.

Bourguiba has no military force comparable to that of France, which kept troops in Tunisia after granting independence.

In France itself, the carefully timed bid of Gen. Charles de Gaulle for supreme national authority raised questions about France's future world policy. De Gaulle has long been known as a strong and stubborn man, dedicated to his concept of French independence, insistent on having his own way and often impatient with the views of allies.

One of the questions now being asked here is what would be France's position within the Western Alliance should he come to power. Another, would Paris continue to cooperate closely with Washington and London on issues in negotiation with Russia, notably a summit conference.

Already the crisis has substantially destroyed U. S. hopes for the early development of a more conciliatory French policy toward the rebellion in Algeria. Even if the new government of Premier Pierre Pflimlin succeeds in riding out the storm, the worst in post-war French history is flexibility to deal with the Algerian situation seems already to have been lost.

High American officials have long feared that French civilian authorities would not be able to solve the Algerian problem and that at some critical moment the military would move to seize power and impose an extreme rightist policy.

Beyond this, U. S. officials have reasoned that the Algerian crisis might very likely grow into a North African crisis, making it increasingly difficult for Tunisia and Morocco to maintain friendly ties with the West. This in turn would open up new opportunities for Communist agitation and for the expansionist aims of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

De Gaulle has argued that the Algerian crisis might very likely grow into a North African crisis, making it increasingly difficult for Tunisia and Morocco to maintain friendly ties with the West. This in turn would open up new opportunities for Communist agitation and for the expansionist aims of President Nasser of the United Arab Republic.

ODDLES OF NOODLES—Dinner's on the line in Taiwan, Formosa, where thin, flax-like noodles made from mung bean seeds dry in the sun. The thin mung bean seeds, used by U.S. kids in beanbags and as ammunition for bean shooters, are ground, then boiled into a gelatinous mass which is forced through what looks like shower head. Known as "cellophane noodles," in Chinese restaurants in the U.S., the filmy strands are eaten particularly on birthdays and festive occasions in Formosa.

Flood Areas to Receive Federal Aid

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — The long, tedious task of restoring flood-stricken areas of south Arkansas to normalcy began here today.

A. L. Gilbreth, federal civil defense so accestration coordinator, opened an office to administer funds that President Eisenhower made available yesterday.

At the request of Gov. Orval Faubus, the President declared certain portions of the state a major disaster area.

His action made the state eligible for aid as a result of last year's torrential rains and flash floods that left thousands of acres of rich farm land under water, drove hundreds of persons from their homes and closed many highways.

The federal aid, however, will not directly help the farmers or the homeless. It can be used only for restoring public facilities.

Gilbreth, of Denton, Tex., expects his staff to begin arriving in a few days.

Owen Payne Jr., state civil defense director, said it will be many months before some facilities are restored.

He said damage is expected to total millions of dollars.

Caracas Jails 3 in Plot to Kidnap Nixon

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Police arrested three men today on charges of planning to kidnap Vice President Nixon. Exiled security police of former dictator Maricao Perez Jimenez were linked to the alleged plot.

Diogenes Alcantara Caballeros Martinez was the only one of the arrested three who was identified.

Police said Caballeros worked with agents of the outlawed security police operating in Caracas, a Colombian town near the Venezuelan border. An investigation is under way and results will be published later, police said.

Faubus Terms Ward 'Me Too' Candidate

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus termed Chancellor Lee Ward of Paragould a "me too" candidate in a speech to a fund-raising dinner here last night.

Faubus, seeking a third term, referred specifically to Ward's speech in Texarkana Wednesday night in which the chancellor pointed to a need for investment of local capital in building the state industrial park.

This, Faubus said, amounted to grabbing Faubus' ideas.

The 55-minute dinner was held to raise money for Faubus' campaign.

The governor again defended his stand in the Little Rock racial integration crisis. Faubus' action in calling out National Guard troops to block integration is expected to be a major issue in this summer's Democratic primary.

The nomination is sought by Faubus' Ward, Chris Finkbeiner and Robert J. Brown.

Reorganization Bill Probably Will Be Signed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was pictured by Congressional sources today as willing to sign the House defense reorganization bill even if it passes without changes he advocates.

One of these sources, who asked not to be quoted by name, told a newsmen: "Without any doubt he will not veto the bill if it is passed as it now stands."

The House Armed Services Committee Friday approved a compromise bill that would give Eisenhower essentially what he asked for in arrangements for streamlined command of unified forces.

But the committee, hostile to changes that might infringe on the individual services or on Congress' own prerogatives, turned down several Eisenhower requests for administrative changes.

Referring to two of these points, Eisenhower said in a letter to Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga.): "I hope this language will be suitably adjusted on the House floor."

In the first session from the Pentagon, Secretary of Defense McElroy echoed the President's comment, saying that while the bill "seems to have accomplished most of the President's major objectives, certain language will, in our opinion, impair efficient administration."

One of the points in question, committee members said, involves a provision continuing to give Congress final decision, without possibility of a presidential veto, in controversial changes in functions of any service. The other issue is language specifying that the secretary of defense, authority over the services shall be exercised through their own secretaries.

Republicans joined Democrats on the committee in unanimously approving the bill, which now goes to the House floor for action, perhaps within two weeks.

Arkansan Gets Senate Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today confirmed by voice vote President Eisenhower's nomination of John S. Cross of Eureka Springs, Ark., as a member of the Federal Communications Commission.

Also approved was the reappointment of Commissioner Robert T. Bartley of Texas.

Cross, a former state department official was named to the FCC to replace Richard A. Mack of Florida, who resigned under fire of a House subcommittee investigating FCC and other regulatory agencies.

That Man Calls on Princess Margaret

By JAMES F. KING
LONDON (AP) — It wasn't mentioned in the royal court circular today but that man called on Princess Margaret again for tea.

And Group Capt. Peter Townsend told a reporter, he expects to see the princess a third time before he leaves England again sometime next week.

A spokesman for Buckingham Palace said Townsend's visit Thursday to Clarence House, where the princess lives with Queen Mother Elizabeth, was a "private visit" — that's all I can say.

It was Townsend's second call at Clarence House since he returned from his world tour. To had tea with Margaret and the Queen Mother March 20, another "private visit" lasting three hours.

That one kicked up a mighty fuss in the papers and in court circles because Queen Elizabeth II was out of the country, on a state visit to the Netherlands.

Palace sources shrugged off the latest meeting, deicting the princess and the handsome World War II ace as just good friends. The newspapers seemed resigned to the meetings and this time showed no shock.

Whether the queen mother was at one when Townsend called wasn't known publicly.

Margaret had spent the day visiting a new children's hospital. She returned home to find Townsend waiting. He stayed for two hours and a half.

Later Margaret, her mother and her sister went to a reception for visiting President Gronchi of Italy.

"Margaret smiled all evening," said one of the guests. "She didn't seem to have a care in the world."

Missile Launching Is Postponed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — As Army Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile launching, the first in five months was postponed by technical difficulties early today at the last split second.

After an 18-minute delay in the preliminary countdown, the missile appeared set to go. Power was cut off at the critical zero mark, however. The shot was "scrubbed" at 12:30 a.m.

The Department of Defense said in a brief statement that the launching would be rescheduled at the earliest possible date. No details were released on the technical trouble.

Pilot to Pick an Unknown Fighting Man

HICKAM AFB, Hawaii (AP) — A World War II pilot who downed 23 enemy planes selects an unknown fighting man today at the scene of the attack that brought the United States into that war.

Air Force Col. Glenn T. Bagley, a veteran of 96 combat missions in World War II, will make the selection of the Pacific's unknown fighting man by placing a Hawaiian garland of white carnations on one of six flag-draped caskets.

The ceremony takes place at Hickam AFB near Honolulu, bombed by the Japanese Dec. 7, 1941.

The remains chosen will join the counterpart from the European theater for a final selection at sea on the U.S. cruiser Canberra.

On May 26 one of the remains will be chosen for burial in the Unknown Soldier's tomb at Arlington Cemetery as the unknown fighting man of World War II.

The other will be buried at sea with full military honors.

Thursday's the unknown of the Korean War was chosen in a similar ceremony conducted by the Army at the National Memorial Cemetery.

M. Sgt. Ned Lyle, who won the Distinguished Service Cross for clearing out a machine gun nest in Korea, made the selection.

3rd Post War Slump Outdoes Other Two

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The third post-war recession already has outstripped the other two in the sharpness and depth of its fall. Whether it also will last longer is still any one's guess—although currently it shows many signs of doing so.

Today's industries setback has many of the characteristics of the previous dips—and some significant differences. So far it bears stumps of evil memory.

The drop in industrial production and in the total dollar value of goods and services is greater this time. So is the total of unemployment, and the percentage of the labor force laid off now.

The cutback in business spending and the trimming of inventories are much the same as in the 1948-49 and the 1953-54 recessions. And this leads many observers to believe that the 1957-58 recession will end much the same way as did the others and leave few lasting scars.

This time the pattern of consumer spending is different. And so is that of government spending. And this raises other observations to hold that today's unpleasantness will prove to be quite different from the earlier ones which were chiefly inventory and production adjustments.

Personal income has dipped more than in 1953 but less, so far, than in 1949. But this time more persons are eligible for unemployment and other benefits and the total of such financial aid is much higher.

Here are the comparisons of the three recessions in essential fields.

In 1948-49 industrial production dropped 10 percent from its peak and the slump lasted one year. In 1953-54 the drop also was about 10 percent and the duration about the same.

Since the December 1956 record high of 147, the industrial production index has dropped to 126 percent of the 1947-49 index. This is a drop of 14 percent in 18 months. (Washington, however, says the recession officially started last August when the industrial production index was at 145). This would make the drop 13 percent, the 1948-49 low point was 123 and the 1954 low point 120.

The drop in 1949 in the gross national product—the total value of goods and services—was 5.2 percent; in 1954 it was 2.7 percent; and this time so far it's 4 percent—down to 422 billion dollars a year from last summer's record peak of 440 billion dollars. The ranks of the jobless swelled to a little over four million in 1949 and to 3 1/2 million in 1954. The total is now carried at more than five million, representing 7.5 percent of the civilian labor force, against 5.6 per cent in 1954.

Personal income totals shrunk by 11 billion dollars in 1949 and by 3 1/2 billion in 1954. Today's figures are down 4 1/2 billion from last August's record annual rate of 342 billion dollars.

Consumer spending fell 1 1/2 billion dollars in 1949 and nearly two billion in 1954. It's off about 2 1/2 billion dollars now from last summer's peak.

Business spending has slumped 2 1/2 billion dollars. In 1949 it fell by one billion and in 1954 by 1 1/2 billion.

UAW Tells Men to Keep Working

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union instructed its General Motors locals to remain on the job after May 29 regardless of whether a new contract has been signed.

The present GM contract expires at midnight on that date and a termination notice has been served by the company.

The latest move was learned today from reliable sources. Meanwhile both GM and Ford negotiators extended their news blackout on developments.

Statements by Slayer Conflicting

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — The reading of conflicting statements and letters by Charles Starkweather continues today as the defense seeks to convince a jury that Starkweather was insane during a murder spree last January.

Defense Counsel T. Clement Gaughan began reading one of Starkweather's long statements Thursday. Starkweather listened briefly, then went to sleep in his chair.

The 10-year-old gunman has signed statements and written letters offering differing recollections of the killing of 10 persons in Nebraska and Wyoming.

In some he indicated he killed all 10. But in a letter the defense introduced he accused his girl friend, Carol Ann Fugate, 14, of killing Carol King, 17. The letter was written to County Atty. Elmer Scheele while Starkweather awaited trial.

Miss King was killed with her date, Robert Jensen, Benet, Neb. Starkweather is charged with shooting Jensen, and Miss Fugate is similarly charged.

Out-of-Town Shoppers

Editor The Star: This is just a few observations from a sales person who has been selling for a living in this, the greatest little town in the world.

We have some of the best people in the world to live and work with but let me get to the main issue of this letter. We also have some of the most unpatriotic people in this town. They will work and live in our town with most of them making a living off the people in Hope. Some of them are even in business here.

When they are ready to purchase something they start working the local sales people up to a high pitch by telling them they are ready to buy and get them down to their last dollar, where, if they were to buy, the place of business involved would lose money. Then they will go out of town and use the same product and paying as much, if not more, for it.

They then come back to town telling what smart buyers they are. Do you call that smart? These same people belong to civic clubs of all kinds and talk about boosting their fine town. They will be the first to holler their head off about how dead business is.

Now, some will say, "Well that is just some sales person who is mad about losing some business to another town." To a certain extent that is true. Any person hates to miss business but they had certainly rather lose it to another town than to see it go out of town.

Now if you wonder how this writer knows this to be true, I know because I have worked out of town and had them buy from me, then go back to Hope and tell the people what smart buyers they were. Now I ask you, "Do you think these are smart people and do you see how they could hold their heads up when they walk down the streets and still scream about how civic minded they are and how they boost dear old Hope?"

Big Spender Not First to Sway Film Land

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — L. B. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. is not the first dashing foreigner to sway the hearts of Hollywood's glamor girls, nor will he be the last.

Few have been as lavish as young Trujillo, with his gifts of costly cars to Kim Novak and Zsa Zsa Gabor.

Gloria Swanson can be credited with starting the foreign invasion. In 1926, she returned from Europe in triumph with her new husband, Marquis de la Follie de la Cour, after which Constance Bennett took over as the marquis.

The marquis was followed by the Marquis de Maltavia. These were three handsome, romantic sons of a Mohammedan Roy of Georgia, a Caucasus state in old Russia. The princes married and divorced often, usually to famous and wealthy women. Among the matches: George—Fola Negri, Dan V�—Mae Murray, Alexis—Barbara Hutton.

Sudden death took two of the prince-erogues at odds and Alexis in a Spanish auto crash. David has lived quietly in recent years as husband of the adopted daughter of oilman Harry Sinclair.

At Khan created plenty of news with an international courtship of Rita Hayworth, their marriage, their divorce. His romance have included other dolls, such as Gene Tierney and Kim Novak (not named above).

TIGERISH TEETHING—Administering a "boxing" lesson to her cub in the St. Louis (Mo.) Zoo, "Pretty Lady" holds down one end of a paper carton while the youngster chews on the other end. Mama tiger teaches her offspring how to pounce and kill, using newspapers and old boxes put in the cage by a keeper. Looks like baby is about litter perfect.

DOROTHY DIX

You Are Noble, Girl, But There Is a Limit

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a 32-year old spinster and as the only single child in a family of six I've been the sole support of my mother for the past seven years. My married brothers and sisters never contributed a cent to her. Now my sister has decided to divorce her husband, and has come home with her three children. Apparently I'm supposed to take care of all of them. This could be accomplished only by the sacrifice of every personal pleasure. The clothes I need for work would be all I could afford. Worst of all, because of family responsibilities I'd be cutting myself off from every friend and every chance to meet someone who'd take me out of the rut I'm in. What should I do?

Dear Edith: With your character and disposition you'll probably go right on being the family soul no matter what advice I give you. You're foredoomed to nobility and sacrifice. When one member of a family placidly settles herself to being the sole support of a parent, the others usually don't complain. They're selfishly grateful to have the burden off their shoulders—and consciences.

Of course you can't neglect your mother and she alone shouldn't keep you from a normal social life. Many happy marriages began with the addition of a dependent parent. However, your sister and her children present a different matter. You're not responsible for them. Let her solve the problem in the best way possible. Being noble is very fine, but being sensible does more good for everyone in the end.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've been going steady for almost two years. Suddenly a new boy came into our class and I fell for him. I'd like to go out with him once to see if

I like him. Do you think this would be a good idea?

TRUDY
Dear Trudy: No, dear. I think it's greedy. You want to dangle your steady while you experiment with the new boy. In all fairness it can't be done. If you want the new boy, make a clean break with the old. If the new one does not come up to expectations, you are free to try again, but don't corner the male market.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My best friend and has been going steady with a boy for a year. Now he likes me and I like him. My friend won't give him up. Should I give him up and spare her feelings?

H. B.
Dear H. B.: Stick with the girl. If you break your friendship with her, and get the boy, he'll probably switch his affections to another damsel before long and you will be left minus the boy and a girl friend.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 14 and in my sophomore year. My mother and father have set 16 as the age at which I can start dating, but since I skipped seventh grade, I won't be 16 until January of my senior year which will have quite an effect on my social life. I have been asked for dates, am quite popular with both girls and boys, and am a good student. I'm willing to wait until I am 15, then date only on Friday and Saturday nights. In view of the circumstances don't you think my folks are being a little hard, or strict, or something?

DOLLY
Dear Dolly: I think your parents will revise their standards a bit when the time comes. Since you have accepted the responsibilities of a higher grade, I'm sure your folks will recognize your fitness for its privileges.

THE STORY Milo March has gone to Puerto Torcido, principal city of the Monican Republic, in search of a manuscript, exposing the Monican dictator, which is missing after being insured for $71,000. Attempts already have been made on March's life. He has smuggled several items into the country, including a gun and a fake manuscript.

CHAPTER XII

The door swung open and there were two strange men there. The one in front was of medium size, his thin dark face dominated by a Roman nose of heroic proportions. There was something about the way he looked at me that stamped him as some sort of official. The second man was clearly an underling.

"Senior Milo March?" the first man asked.

"Yes," I said, but I didn't leave it at that because I don't like officials to get the first edge. "But there must be some mistake. I've already had room service."

His face tightened a little but that was all. "I am Jorge Gavanh, cero," he said. "The Chief of Police."

folks on the idea. After a few years Nancy had the union, anulled because India wouldn't recognize it.

The courtship of Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier of Monaco was conducted on a dignified level. Their romance blossomed in France and the prince pursued his suit here.

Then there was Portia Rossi, who appears to have been the midwife wrapped up into one. The marrying ceremony of Gen. Trujillo conducted a well-publicized romance with Zsa Zsa Gabor (her again). She claimed they were engaged at one point but he drifted off to other matters.

Missile Still Need Guidance Systems

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Soviet inter-continental ballistic missiles are still probably without the necessary guidance systems, and re-entry nose cones to make them effective weapons of war, Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said Thursday.

Brucker's comments were made at a news conference and a Chamber of Commerce dinner speech. The Soviet Union placed its third satellite in orbit earlier in the day.

The secretary said the United States will have the Soviet Union ringed by operational intermediate range missiles by December.

Distribution of natural gas got underway in Arkansas shortly after the turn of the century, with Fort Smith and Texarkana among the first cities supplied with natural gas.

which is just like that of a man who, by coincidence, is known as El Nariz. I don't suppose the name is familiar to you."

"I do not recall it," he said. "He grinned at me. This was the sort of game he liked. He probably liked it even better now since we were playing it on his home field. "Senior March, why have you come to the Monican Republic?"

"I'm glad you asked me," I told him. "In the United States I am a sort of detective. I have been hired by a wealthy American to be a history detective."

"What?" he asked.

"It was my turn to grin at him. "I have to find something of historical note which it is believed is in your country. I am sorry that I cannot be more explicit with you, but in the morning I am seeing Generalissimo Torcido to arrange the necessary permits."

"I think you lie," he said darkly. "You are another interfering American who is trying to say that we had something to do with the disappearance of Moreno."

"Moreno?" I said blankly. "There was a Paddy Moreno, a waterweight, but you couldn't possibly have known him."

"You play games with me, senior," he said softly. "I know why you are here. I know that you have been paid by the big insurance company."

"You must have been talking to my friend, El Nariz," I said. "That was his favorite illusion, too."

He gestured for his companion to come in. "Search the place," he ordered.

I've never been much of a flatterer, but you do have to admit that American cops are more thorough than most. I would never have gotten away with the hiding places in that room with most American cops, but the little Monican cop missed them. He let it under the mattress but not under the springs. Finally he finished looking at his chief and shrugged.

"It is well," the chief said sternly but he sounded as if it would have been more well if they'd found something incriminating. "I know that you are lying about your reason for being here, Senior March, and you may be sure that I will keep an eye on you."

After he left, I called down stairs and had Hernandez bring me up a radio. He arrived with it in a few minutes. I plugged it in and found music. I left it on, but it could always be turned up if someone arrived and I wanted to talk.

I looked at my watch. It was almost the dinner hour. Then there was a knock on the door. I wasn't expecting anyone now, except the guy five miles underground.

Also starring in William Faulkner's best seller are: Anthony Franciosa, Orson Welles, Lee Remick and Angela Lansbury. The picture is in DeLuxe Color and is directed by Jerry Wald, who also directed "Payton Place."

Ward Addresses Class and Club

Ward addressed the Mountain Home Lions Club at noon and spoke to the graduating class at nearby Viola High School last night.

Substitute Bitten by Mailman's Dog

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore.—A substitute mailman said he was bitten by a mailman's dog as he tried to deliver a letter to the home of the man for whom he was working.

All the while, the substitute said, the regular mailman sat on the porch and watched the dog bite.

The old "Dollarway" highway between the Pulaski county line and Pine Bluff received its name from the "one dollar per yard" contract, customary at the time of its construction.

SIDESADDLE—Actress Ingrid Bergman rides a donkey through a "Chinese village" in Boreham Wood, England. The "Inn" was built for Miss Bergman's newest movie, "The Inn of the Sixth Happiness."

Reuther Will Direct Talks for Contract

DETROIT (AP)—Walter P. Reuther was due back in Detroit today to direct United Auto Workers Union strategy in the climactic stages of contract talks with the auto companies during the next two weeks.

Rollable sources said the union has advised more than 300,000 members in General Motors plants to be prepared to report for work as usual after the current GM contract expires May 20 even if no new settlement has been reached.

Similar instructions are expected to be given 100,000 Ford workers, and 70,000 Chrysler workers. The Ford and Chrysler contracts expire June 1.

Reuther has said the union has no intention of accommodating the companies with a strike when they have a backlog of more than 750,000 unsold new cars.

The average wage for production workers now is $2.40 an hour. The companies and the union agreed Thursday to keep in effect a news blackout on bargaining talks.

WORSHIP EVERY SUNDAY IN YOUR FAVORITE CHURCH
YOU NEED THE SPIRITUAL UPLIFT OF A PRAYER-HOUR IN GOD'S HOUSE

OUR DUTY

Every child has a right to go to bed with a clear sense of the care and love of the God in whose world he has come to live. We impoverish little folk if we fail to surround them with a sense of divine concern. Oh, for the faith of that child. A child can pray. They believe the whole round world is bound by chains about the feet of God. It is our duty to teach them, to lead them, to take them to church regularly. When they say, "Our Father," the affirmation of trust and affection for God can be felt. This is religion at its best. May every child know the blessings of good teaching at home and at church. It is our duty to teach them to revere God and to ask His blessings on them. May they at each bedtime say, "Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray the Lord my soul to keep."

YOU IN THE CHURCH THE CHURCH IN YOU

Character is a by-product of the church. It is here that young and old alike are showered with benedictions stronger, democracy, in the church the ministerial and molding religious character. Statesmen today declare that the church alone can furnish leadership to handle the affairs of state in these perilous times. Then we with our children should go to the church of our choice on Sunday. You in the Church and the Church in you form a combination for good. Be a regular CHURCH GOER and a daily BIBLE READER.
